

Echo Will Publish Pass-Long Beach Edition

A separate edition of The Sea Coast Echo serving Long Beach and Pass Christian will go into publication December 15, according to Edward Hall, editor and publisher.

News coverage for the paper will be aimed primarily at Long Beach and Pass Christian residents. The Hancock County edition will not be affected by the change.

"Since Hurricane Camille, we have wanted to expand our news and circulation coverage," Hall said. "Because of the addition of highly qualified personnel and the modernization of our printing facilities, we feel our paper can now adequately serve the needs of the people in these areas."

The Long Beach-Pass Christian Bureau, 401 C. Jeff Davis Avenue in Long Beach, will be under the direction of Miss Susan Irby, 22, a native of Memphis, Tenn. Miss Irby received a Bachelor of Science in Communications in June from the University of Tennessee and has been employed with the Echo for six months. She is a resident of Long Beach.

At Long Beach, she was appointed assistant news editor of the UT Daily Beacon for the 1973-74 school term. The Beacon is the official student publication of the University. Upon graduation, Miss Irby was cited by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, as the outstanding female graduate in the College of Communications.

Committee Will Offer Help To Bay Officials

Opening lines of communication between the man in the street and elected officials in City Hall is the main objective of a new committee formed in Bay St. Louis, which held a first meeting Monday night.

The Citizens' Involvement Committee is composed of members representing a complete cross-section of the community and the aims of the committee are to offer help and assistance to the city council in drafting plans for building and residential improvements under the various U.S. Housing and Urban Development programs.

Committee members attending the meeting, held in the new Housing Authority recreation building, included Mrs. Franklin Carter, Charles Carter, Sr., Mrs. Weldon Dearing, James Drummond, Thomas Farve, Rev. George Heffner, Anthony Lolicano, Paul Lewis, Sheldon Seuren, II, Paul Vegas and John Wallace.

A number of city and state officials gathered to discuss and formulate guidelines for effective committee functioning. In attendance from Bay St. Louis were Mayor Warren Carver, city commissioners William Frisbie and Andre

Funds Needed For Accident Victim

Funds are being sought for Donnie Wayne Smith, one of three survivors of a Thanksgiving Day automobile accident in Long Beach in which nine persons were killed. Donnie will have to have brain surgery at a New Orleans hospital and his family is without hospitalization or insurance. Donnie's mother, Mrs. Mildred Smith was killed in the accident and his father, Danny Smith of Kiln must spend all the time in New Orleans with his son.

Anyone wishing to contribute may do so at any coast branch of the Gulf National Bank.

Lighting Contest

Bay-Waveland Garden Club will again sponsor its annual Christmas lighting and decoration contest for homes and business places in Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Entries will be taken from December 13 to 2 p.m. December 20 by calling Mrs. George Shuler at 467-3605. Only homes and businesses entered will be judged. Judging will be December 20.

FLOWER SHOW

This Thursday, the Bay St. High Tiger Lily Garden Club will hold its annual Christmas flower show. This year the theme will be "Reflections of Christmas." The judging will be completed by 11:30 and open to the public from 11:30 to 3:30. Refreshments will be served; all are cordially invited to attend, especially the parents of the entering students.

Furniture Manufacturers Purchase DDI Property

The Port and Harbor Commission, by authority of county supervisors, successfully negotiated Monday afternoon with the Hancock Bank for the re-acquisition of a 32-acre tract of land at the Port and Harbor industrial park.

The bank, as first mortgage holder on the property, had initiated foreclosure proceedings against Design Development, Inc., now

Civil Defense Plans Medical Program

The City of Bay St. Louis Civil Defense Council, through director J. R. Lavole, announced that the next step in the Red Cross Training Program will be presented at Valena C. Jones School in conjunction with the Medical Self-Help Program. These are mandatory subjects in the school program today. This will give parents an opportunity to learn what their children are learning in our schools in regards to emergency preparedness, according to Lavole.

Application for this training class will be accepted from defunct, for default of an $80,000 payment on a deed of trust.

The county held a second mortgage on the operation through an earlier contract with Western and Southern Co. In an attempt to revive the commercial venture.

Michael Haas, Port and Harbor attorney, advised supervisors Monday morning that two Louisiana industrialists had expressed a willingness to pay up to $91,000 on the mortgage for seven and a half acres of the tract, in order to operate a millwork manufacturing plant.

At the foreclosure sale the bank accepted a final purchase price of $90,754.82 from Amos R. Sexton and Houston P. Morris, Louisiana furniture manufacturers. The two men will set up operations in a plant now situated on the seven and a half acre site. The county will hold 24 1/2 acres of the original tract but has given the Louisiana firm a three-year option on an adjoining five acres for possible expansion.

According to Sexton, the company, tentatively named Coastal Millwork Supply Co., will produce millwork and prefabricated cabinets for wholesalers and contractors. Custom made cabinets and millwork will also be available on a retail basis. The company has other plants in operation in Ruston, Monroe and North Carolina.

The two partners stated that this plant is expected to be about four times as large as the plants in Louisiana. Key personnel will be brought here from Louisiana to train local workers for eventual expansion to a work force of about 80 by the middle of next year.

Port and Harbor attorneys will arrange for a revocation of the prior agreement with Western and Southern Co. to relieve that firm of any financial commitments.

Beach Road Cracks

A PORTION of North Beach Blvd. between Felicity and Leopold Sts. was roped off Wednesday night because a crack in the road widened approximately two inches. Tom Bradbury, acting superintendent of streets in Bay St. Louis said that he had known about the crack but was informed late Wednesday by J. R. Lavole, Bay Civil Defense Director, that the crack had widened.

ACCORDING TO Bradbury, the road is completely washed out underneath, and the area was roped off to prevent heavy vehicles from passing. Bradbury will meet with beat three supervisor Joe Cuevas at noon today to see what can be done to repair the road. The road is under the jurisdiction of the county.

Senate Approves Funds For Test Facility

The U.S. Senate has approved $12 million to expedite two major environmental research programs at the Louisiana State University space complex.

According to a joint statement from Senators J. Bennett Johnston and J. Dan Claitor, the Louisiana State University space complex is one of the nation's largest and most advanced research facilities.

unique inter-agency earth resources and environmental research complex.

Ellender, the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, and Stennis, chairman of the Public Works and Transportation Committee, expressed optimism that the $12 million would also be approved by a House-Senate conference committee and would be allocated by the administration. They obtained committee approval to add the money to a 1972 supplemental appropriations bill.

The money would allow the Department of the Interior to establish both its Gulf Coast Hydroscience Center and the Gulf Coast Environmental Research Center.

This appropriation will allow Interior to launch these two major research projects now rather than in the next fiscal year," the southern senators said.

ap. They said the hydroscience center, operated by Interior's Geological Survey, would use $1 million to fund a staff of 25 professionals and 20 technicians to study the Gulf of Mexico and its coastal waters.

Interior's Gulf Coast Hydroscience Center will attempt to develop better methods for predicting and controlling coastal erosion and sedimentation. The center will also study the effects of human activities on the coastal environment.

Supervisors Withhold Decision On County Food Stamp Program

Mrs. Frances Frankiewicz, county welfare officer, presented the board of supervisors Monday details of the food stamp program, recently authorized for Hancock County by the state welfare department.

Total annual cost to the county to conduct the program was estimated at $12,411, which would not include administrative costs. Mrs. Frankiewicz called attention to paragraph three of the state directive, which stated that the county is expected to assume responsibility for office spaces, utilities, supplies as well as delivery and storage of the food stamps.

Under the conditions of this program, the federal government assumes 62 and one half percent of the cost, the remainder to be borne equally between the county and state.

"I can't tell you whether or not the food stamp program will cost more than commodities," Mrs. Frankiewicz said, adding that she had checked with other counties concerning the comparative merits of the two programs. Some said it cost more, others that it was more economical.

There is more leeway for fraudulence in the food stamp program, she warned, as regulations governing eligibility are less stringent in the first than the latter program, which Hancock County has had in effect.

She also advised that the physical plant now being used for the commodity program will not suffice for food stamps, as there is a shortage of space now for interviews and office personnel.

The state directive stipulated that all administration and disbursements of the food stamp program will be the sole responsibility of the county welfare officer, Mrs. Frankiewicz. All staffing is handled by the state department.

A decision was held in abeyance pending a meeting next week, giving the supervisors-elect time to consider all aspects of the program so they can decide whether or not they will accept the program after taking office.

A resolution by the Port and Harbor Commission to advertise for bids for land fill at the site of new Port and Harbor offices on highway 602 brought an objection from Beat two supervisor Alton Kellar. Kellar said he didn't remember the board authorizing the Port and Harbor commission to proceed with plans for construction of a building.

Minutes of the last meeting were read, in which the board ratified a Port and Harbor budget item for $23,000 to be spent in the acquisition of a "new or used metal building" to provide office space for the commission.

Hill revealed that Coast Electric Co.'s offer of a used metal building for $12,600 was the only one received, therefore the commission agreed to purchase the building for use on the plot of land given to the commission by the Ramada Inn corporation.

The board passed the resolution to accept the Coast Electric bid as well as advertise for land fill bids.

local soil and water conservation district and the general public is invited to view it.

The film was made in Mississippi and tells the story of the conservation work done in the Little Tallahatchie River watershed. The nine-county area within the watershed was devastated by erosion until a massive conservation program carried on by the local people and several federal agencies brought the land back into production. Today the area is making economic gains and industry is moving in.

The work and accomplishments in the Little Tallahatchie River watershed project were recognized in 1970 when it was named "Watershed of the Year" at the National Watershed Congress.

Conservation Film Slated

A film showing the amazing benefits of conservation will be shown December 13 at 7 p.m. in the Crew Vehicle Building of Coast Electric.

W. J. Pippin, Chairman of the Hancock County Soil and Water Conservation District, explained that the film was obtained through the efforts of the early establishment of the EROS regional center will permit federal agencies to avoid duplication by using existing laboratories and computers at MTF-Sidell.

"This regional center will also allow EROS to begin cooperating with other environmental research and earth resources missions already established or planned at MTF-Sidell," they said. The EROS national center is under construction at Sioux Falls, So. Dak.

These include missions and laboratories operated by NASA, the Environmental Protection Agency, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Science Foundation and the U.S. Army.

The situation at MTF-Sidell presents an unparalleled opportunity for a number of federal agencies to coordinate their research with each other and with major universities, Ellender and Stennis said.

The Gulf Universities Research Corporation (GURC), a consortium of 20 major southern universities and research institutes, is also expected to use MTF-Sidell facilities.

GURC, which includes LSU, Tulane and Ole Miss, will soon begin an 18-month project to design a data management system for multi-agency use in environmental research. This will be done under NASA contract and probably with support from the National Science Foundation.

Ellender said the GURC program is of particular importance to Louisiana because research departments of many oil companies will be involved.

"This coordinated effort by federal agencies, universities and industry should hasten the day when we find practical answers to pollution problems, including offshore oil spills," he said.

Monastra-Higgins Vows Exchanged

Miss Gail Patricia Higgins of Gulfport, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Higgins Sr. of Bay St. Louis, became the bride of James Leonard Monastra, Kessler A. F. B. Bilotti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Monastra of Cleveland, Ohio, at 11 a. m. Saturday, November 27, in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Very Reverend Gregory Johnson, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar adorned with arrangements of white gladioli and egg-white mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a candlelight white gown of silk dress fashioned on Empire lines with a cathedral length train. Lace, reembodying with pearls, trimmed the neckline, long sleeves and front of the floor length skirt. Her fingertip veil of candlelight white illusion fell from a peau de soie bow and she carried a cascade of Stephanotis and English ivy.

Mrs. Andre Arceneaux of Bay St. Louis was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Irving Higgins Jr., Bay St. Louis, and Mrs. Betsy Ross, Gulfport.

They wore Empire style lavender crepe gowns with white and lavender trim on the bodice and long light fitting cuffs. They wore head pieces fashioned of illusion and white organza petals centered with small lavender flowers and carried cascades of lavender point pomps with purple streamers.

Carl Monastra, Cleveland, Ohio, served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Boyd Cochran, and Mike Seus, both of Kessler.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Hall.

The bride's table, overlaid with an off-white linen cut-work cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake trimmed with pink and lavender flowers. Branched candelabra trimmed with lavender pom poms and leather leaf were on either side.

Mrs. C. M. Higgins, New Orleans, aunt of the bride, presided at the cake table and Miss Angela Monastra, sister of the groom, was at the punch bowl. Miss Angellique Arceneaux, niece of the bride, kept the guest register.

For traveling the bride wore a blue-gray dress with matching sleeveless jacket and a cymbidium orchid corsage.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in St. Petersburg, Florida, the couple will be at home at Lindh Road, Gulfport, Miss.

The bride, a graduate of Bay St. Louis High School, is presently employed at Gulf National Bank Computer Center.

The groom, a graduate of Chanel High School, Cleveland, Ohio, is an instructor at Kessler Air Force Base.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Monastra, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Monastra, Angela, Camille, and Carl Monastra, Darlene Soroka, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bourdonna, Mrs. Ed. Bourdonna, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Faulkner and Mrs. Gary Faulkner.

NEWS ABOUT 4-H

Veterinary Students Offered Lassie 4-H Scholarships

SPECIAL - The proverb "a dog is man's best friend" will have special significance for two young college students this fall. Lassie, probably the most familiar dog in the world, is the "friend" in this case.

Champion Valley Farms, Inc., will provide a young man and a young woman with an $800 scholarship in the Lassie 4-H Veterinary Medicine scholarship program. This is the fourth year the educational grants have been given in Lassie's name, in an awards program arranged through the National 4-H Service Committee.

The scholarships are available to former 4-H'ers majoring in veterinary medicine at one of the 18 universities offering such a curriculum.

John R. Morris, president of Champion Valley Farms, says the purpose of the grants is "to help to make the animal world a better place in which to live." This year's scholarship winners will be selected by the Cooperative Extension Service and recipients will be announced during the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-29, Dec. 2.

A Washington State University student, Blaine R. Russell, 24, of Shelley, Idaho, was one of the 1970 winners.

Russell attended the University of Utah for two years, taking pre-veterinary courses. He worked for the university at Hogle Zoo in Salt Lake City which gave him an added opportunity to work with animals. And earlier he was an active 4-H'er for seven years in Bonneville County, Idaho.

Miss Patricia L. Bussan, a University of Minnesota coed from DeForest, Wis., was the other 1970 winner. At the time of her award she was a senior at the U. of M. and editor of the Minnesota Veterinarian magazine for the 1970-71 school year.

Miss Bussan said that it was during her junior year at Albert Ludwig University in Freiburg, Germany, when she decided on a career in veterinary medicine. She was a 4-H member in Columbia County, Wisconsin, for six years.

For information about these scholarships, contact the State 4-H Leader at the state land-grant university or the Dean at one of the 18 Colleges of Veterinary Medicine.

HOW OIL COMPANIES ARE PUTTING MORE GUTS IN GREASES

Lubricants have come a long way since the squeaky wheel days of horsedrawn wagons. Spectacular as the advances have been, a new ingredient is turning lubricant engineering upside down and today your car or truck can roll with the best grease ever.

The ingredient is molybdenum disulfide, derived from the modern metal molybdenum. That's pronounced mo-LYB-den-um, and called "moly" for short as in the old-time phrase, "moly and moly chemicals have some amazing properties."

For example, when combined with a base oil, molybdenum disulfide produces greases and oils that make all others look like asides. A moly grease won't squeeze out, however great the pressure.

It won't wash out when tears, big rigs or farm equipment rolls through puddles. And because of moly's unique properties, moly greases give longer protection against wear than any other lube money can buy. For when the basic grease compound in the formula is finally spent, the micro par-

Join The Chamber!

During 1971, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has worked diligently to not only unite the people of this area but to present our county to industrial, governmental and civic organizations.

Some of its many accomplishments include organizing the Hancock County Volunteer Firemen's Association, and the Hancock County Fishermen's Association; conducting a county-wide clean-up campaign; and successfully requesting that the menhaden line be moved one-half mile from the county sea wall. In addition, the chamber has answered more than 700 letters from people who desire information about this area. But the Chamber does more—so much more in order to make Hancock County a better place in which to live and work.

For the next week, the Chamber will be conducting a membership drive. During that time, you will be asked to either renew your membership or to join as a new member.

We commend the Chamber for its work during the year and hope that this worthwhile organization will continue to receive the support of the people it serves. To quote from a recent Chamber letter, "Your Chamber Does Not Cost, It Pays."

Our readers write

Dear Sir:

In your December 2 edition, there appeared a letter by Mr. E. N. Canady. In that letter, Mr. Canady made statements to the effect that there was no real law enforcement in the City of Waveland. Mr. Canady complained that his car had been stolen from his garage in his home at Waveland. What Mr. Canady failed to state was that he had left the keys in his car and left the garage door unlocked. Mr. Canady also failed to state that his car was recovered and returned to him within three hours after the theft, and two suspects were arrested and turned over to the courts. I am certain that most fair-minded people would agree that this was very effective police work.

Mr. Canady also complains about speeding and other traffic violations in the City of Waveland. I believe that the worst records in the City of Waveland will prove that our police force is effectively enforcing the traffic laws of the City.

I do not normally respond to such letters as Mr. Canady's; however I feel that his letter does a grave injustice to the conscientious and hard working members of both the regular Waveland police force and its auxiliary policemen. I welcome constructive criticism such as Mr. Canady expressed is not constructive nor justified. As mentioned previously, I felt I had to take this opportunity to tell the whole story and not just part of it.

Sincerely yours,
Fred Bourgeois, Sr.
City Marshal

Dear Sir:

In my opinion, Mr. Canady, you should be thanking the police of Waveland and the Sheriff's office instead of criticizing them. It is impossible for the police to be in every part of town at once. I say this off to all our men who do a fine job at all times no matter what time of day or night.

Respectfully,
Mrs. Donald Dorn

Dear Editor:

On the front page of your paper today is an account of the rampage of two teenagers. I do not know who these children are, yes they are children. I never heard of them before. Some of their evil deeds were committed after they had consumed liquor in that house. Now the ones that made that liquor, the ones that sold it, the ones that bought it, the ones that voted to legalize it, are all guilty of the crimes these children committed as well as the children. So it is with any crime a drunk person commits. They are not the only ones guilty. What is the responsibility of the parents? They should not be sent back there.

Mrs. A. E. Pope
Pearlington, Mississippi 39067

Dear Sir:

I, Ernest Jacques, Clermont Harbor, Miss., am petitioning the Mississippi Public Service Commission to show cause why the water rate of Clermont Harbor, Hancock County, Mississippi was increased from $20.00 a year to $40.00 a year without a public hearing. I am asking all Clermont Harbor residents to help me.

Yours truly,
Ernest J. Jacques
Box 56
Clermont Harbor,

EDITOR, SEA COAST ECHO:

I am the father of four children presently enrolled in the Bay St. Louis Public Schools and one who graduated last year. I have had incidents of denial of certain rights to my children due to random enforcement of the school regulations of dress, superimposed and without regard for my own desires and responsibilities to decide what is clean, decent, obtainable and within my financial means as a parent.

I would encourage other parents, either before or after the enforcement of these regulations upon their children, to inquire of their source and whether or not they, as parents, did or could have had any direct voice in determining them under the present system.

I am sincerely motivated to write this letter by concern for others who might have problems more besetting than my own in similar circumstances.

I have always had the highest regard for the teaching profession. I greatly admire and appreciate the type of person whose purpose it is to educate children. In knowledge, and even beyond this to try to influence them by their own examples and testimony in the things that will direct the children toward becoming mature, responsible citizens. Many teachers do uphold this high calling, taking a very personal interest in each student's future. They have many hard decisions to make and I no more expect these decisions to be perfect or to my personal liking than I can claim to even approach perfection myself.

I have never blindly accepted the word of my children as being the final, undisputed truth, concerning any incident. I endeavor to hear the other side of the story.

With 75 child years behind me, (the total of my children's ages) I have diligently taught them not to take issue with the actions and decisions of their superiors though they might seem to be unfair and inequitable toward them. I have discouraged their coming to me with petty problems.

I have taught them that accepting and living with these problems and harboring no ill will nor seeking vengeance is very important in maturing and being able to face the world on their own.

However, my attitude, in general, about these school dress regulations can be expressed no better than by a portion of a letter to the Editor of the Daily Herald from Mr. Walter G. Pelkey on October 20, 1971 which I quote:

"I, too, think that officials should be empowered to prevent disruption of classes and ensure that student dress does not outrage the truly pious. The morals, conduct and appearance of children is the responsibility of the parent. The primary role of the school is to educate, and like all public agencies should have only such power as is necessary to perform its assigned function. Schools should not be allowed to assume the role of the parent. Morals and purely social standards are too diverse and personal to be legislated. I think that we have a good deal more to fear from arbitrary and non-essential regulations than from individuals exercising their right to dress weirdly. I personally find long hair on men repulsive but will concede them that right in return for the right to wear mine short; vote Republican and make similar peculiar choices."

I feel perfectly competent to determine my own and my children's morals, conduct and appearance. Conversely, I am not so confident of my inherent superiority as to dictate everyone else's way of life and do not feel the need to force everyone into a common mold. It only takes a few arbitrary laws to make outsiders out of the majority and thus undermine respect for law in general. Rather than seeking laws to further our own point of view, we would do better to ensure that only those essential to the functioning of our Society are enacted. Our forefathers endured much hardship to obtain self-determination and we should begrudge the slightest erosion of this principle.

I so cherish and appreciate my own freedom in this prosperous nation that in observing the appearances and actions of others, though possibly disgusting and distasteful to me and a bad influence upon my children, I am not tempted to take personal action to disallow them their rights.

If I were busy enough trying to assure that other people's children conformed to my own personal taste so as not to be a bad influence upon mine, that I did not have enough time left to feel personally responsible for my own and if I thought that my children's social environment played a more important role in determining their destinies than their family life and my teaching, with God's help, perhaps I would take a different attitude.

How can we get on with more important things, at least with a reasonable amount of tolerance, and see and be concerned about what's inside our neighbors when we're too concerned and too intolerant of their outward appearances.

After all, what can we do about a naked face that really offends us. It can be changed with a flap, but if this same face doesn't really offend us, but by putting a smile on it.

How can we as a nation expect to tolerate other nations or to be tolerated by them, in what we feel are their inhuman attitudes, when we do not appreciate our own freedom of expression, nor have enough compassion to patiently tolerate and respect the rights of our community neighbors, through their actions and appearances, within their rights, in no real sense of the word, to be different.

Must we forever suffer the woes pronounced against the Pharisees by Jesus in the 23rd chapter of Matthew, verses 23 through 28: Must this be man's incessant inhumanity to man.

Sincerely,
E. E. Edwards

Local Government In Action

County Financial Administration

(ED. NOTE: This is the twelfth in a series of articles by staff writer Adoree Shortle, explaining the various departments of the three local governments—Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County.)

COUNTY FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION

The business of running a county is essentially the same as running a business, or a home. Except for the difference in the amount of money involved, basically the same principles of operation apply. A certain amount of income is available to provide necessary services. Handled with judgment and control, the income can more than cover expenditures. Without a system of checks and balances, and lacking a systematic method of supervision trouble can result.

By anybody's standards, operating a county is big business. Although Hancock County is considered one of the poorest in the state, still its total assessment is valued at $25 million. Five supervisors are responsible for the entire operation, and one woman is responsible for the complex system of bookkeeping involved.

BOOKKEEPING

When Mrs. Elsie Kenny became full time bookkeeper for the county last February, there was a loose system of checks and balances, and no accounting control. With the help of other staff members, she has reorganized the county bookkeeping system to record breakdowns of county, beat and individual fund incomes and disbursements.

The complexity of the system is indicated by the fact that there are 150 different categories in the county general fund alone. There are approximately 50 categories in each beat fund, and six in each bond redemption account.

Each supervisor can now get a monthly accounting of his beat balance, showing expenditures as well as reimbursements.

MILLAGE AND INCOME

According to state laws, a system of millage is employed to determine allocations for support of each of the 22 county accounts (listed in last week's article). The largest single item in the county school system, which receives a total of 33 mills, or $225,000 annually from county income. As indicated by the books, 50.6 percent of all county tax income goes toward the operation and maintenance of the four county schools.

The second largest allocations are the general fund and the road and bridge fund. The first covers the above mentioned 150 categories; the latter is divided equally among the five beats. Each account receives seven mills, or $175,000 of annual income.

The above figures are not actual amounts collected; of course. There are many factors affecting monies collected by the county, such as uncollectable taxes and unforeseen emergency expenditures, as well as non-revenue receipts which are often state aid reimbursements for money spent.

For instance, in the fiscal year encompassing October 1970 through September 1971, the county roads and bridges account was credited with $1,060,059, listed as non-revenue receipts.

A sizeable sum, none of which could be considered or used as expendable income, as most of the money came from the state aid division of public roads and reimbursement for road repair already paid for by the county.

Also in the same period, the general fund was actually credited with a total of $232,513 derived from property taxes, county revenue, state and other outside revenues. From that amount was drawn a pro rata share of supervisors' salaries, civil defense, county fair, sheriff's department, chancery and circuit courts as well as a number of others.

The accounts are too numerous to list in detail here, but all county records are a matter of public information and are available for perusal at the Court House.

Supervisors, individually and as a board, often come in for a good bit of criticism from the public regarding their administrative actions—or lack thereof. This newspaper is in no way defending, or condemning any past actions, or transactions of supervisors. We are attempting, however, to present facts of government to the public as uninformed criticism is of no value to anyone.

We do feel that each voter and taxpayer should know what his tax dollars are supposed to be used for, and that he has the right to question the actual expenditures. If he has doubts concerning a particular matter, the wisest course of action is to investigate the facts and figures, at the proper source, before making accusations of nefarious intent.

We've Observed

That St. Rose De Lima rectory, church and school are outstanding examples of well kept buildings and grounds.

That in spite of women's lib there are no women in appointed city or county positions. Remember that, you elected officials when appointments come up!!!

That most of our streets really held up under our recent deluge—and that folks going to city hall really enjoyed the new drain.

How courteous Bay residents are at second and Main in allowing left turns, thereby facilitating the flow of traffic.

That the Cranes have returned to the Bay—also, our birds and squirrels have really increased their population.

That the Christmas decorations look so festive and in keeping with this season.

That the only visible remains of Camille seems to be the beach road.

That Main Street is being scraped and cleaned. Wish the property owners would take up "The Cause" and edge their sidewalks. What an improvement that would be for the entrance to our city.

That the old St. Stanislaus buildings are no longer the first landmark you see when you enter the Bay by water.

That the sidewalks, long promised for Dunbar Avenue, are becoming a reality. Hope the Main Street sidewalk will follow soon.

DEATHS

MRS. MARCELLA V. BRADLEY

Mrs. Marcella Vogel Bradley, 75, retired school teacher in New Orleans public schools, died at 8:45 p.m., December 6 in Hancock General Hospital.

A native of New Orleans, she moved to 322 Jeff Davis Ave., Waveland, in 1957.

Mrs. Bradley was the widow of Charles A. Bradley and daughter of the late Jacob and Louise Vogel of New Orleans.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Wednesday from Laudumley Funeral Home, New Orleans, with interment in Greenwood Cemetery.

MARION NORTON COE

Marion Norton Coe, 86, a native of Vicksburg and resident of Bay St. Louis for 11 years, died at 4 p.m. Saturday, December 4, in Hancock General Hospital.

He was the husband of Hilda Baum Coe; father of Mrs. T. Earl Bates, Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Julian Genella, Bay St. Louis. He is also survived by six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Monday from Rismanns' Funeral Home, Chapel, Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery with Rev. Charles R. Johnson, rector, Christ Episcopal Church, officiating.

CORN FOR 1972

The seed corn situation next spring should be much improved over 1971. Supplies should be ample and the total seed supply will be on N-cytoplasm.

Prices should be lower as several major seed companies have indicated that the cost per 50 pound bag will be $7 to $9 below last year.

Corn stunt and maize dwarf mosaic virus (MDMV) were more of a problem in 1971 than in any recent year. The flint corn planted were particularly susceptible to corn stunt.

Results of resistance ratings to corn stunt and MDMV will be available. Farmers who had problems this year will want to check these ratings closely before buying their 1972 seed corn. Varieties that do not have a high level of resistance should not be planted in areas where corn stunt is prevalent since the disease is an alternate host for MDMV and possibly stunt as well.

DAIRY NOTES

Dairy cows, like automobiles, need a great deal of fuel. The new fuel cars require fuel with a high octane rating to perform properly. The same is true of the dairy cow. She must have the proper fuel (feed) to do the job you want her to do.

Trumpets In The Morning

By Perry D. Neal, Pastor
First Baptist Church, Bay St. Louis

Ed Seabough in his book "After the Riot" has written a paraphrase of Luke 18:29-37.

THE NEIGHBOR

A freshman boy went from home to the university. The second day on the campus some guys asked him out for a beer. Wanting to win their friendship, he used his money to buy nine rounds of beer for all of them.

When he was drunk they loaded him in their car, but dumped him four blocks from his dorm. In his drunken state he stumbled and fell against the main gate of the campus, gashing his face and cutting his hand. With blood streaming from his wounds, he staggered toward his dorm.

A pre-med student on his way to his job at the hospital saw him and, repulsed by the sight of the drunken student, crossed the street to walk on the other side.

A Christian student on his way to speak at a campus vesper service on the subject "Jesus' Concern for Persons" saw him. But realized he'd be late to vesper if he stopped, so he also crossed to the other side of the street.

A black student driving by on his way to the chemistry lab saw him and his heart was filled with compassion. He stopped, ran over to him, and helped him into his car, then took him to his home.

With his mother's help he cleaned and bandaged the wounds and put the student to bed.

As the black student left the house, he said, "Mom, take good care of him; I sure wouldn't want him to be kicked out of school."

Now I ask you, which one of these students seems to have been the neighbor to the drunken freshman?

Since you know, then go and be a neighbor to the students at the university.

Those of you who have college students are urged to send this column to them. As for we who live on the Coast let us apply its meaning to our everyday lives: right where we live. Be a real Christ-filled neighbor!

STRAIGHT AHEAD!!!!

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling
City-County Library Writer

One of the most enigmatical figures in Mississippi history was also a man who is generally acclaimed as one of the State's most distinguished characters, John Francis Hamtramck Claiborne, born near Natchez in 1807.

Admitted to the bar in Virginia, Claiborne soon returned to Mississippi and was elected to Congress. From then on he seemed to be constantly embroiled in small political controversies, culminating in action in a political dispute in 1837 which turned so many party leaders, that any hope of future political success was destroyed. He was forced to leave the State and to take refuge in New Orleans where as a lamb among commercial wolves, he lost all his money and was put in prison as a common debtor. This cured him of his hopes to become a business tycoon, and he sadly returned to Mississippi.

Claiborne had now failed in two ventures, politics and business, while still under forty years of age. He next turned to writing as a means of earning a living, and through friends secured the editorship of a local newspaper. This time he was successful, and for several years edited a series of newspapers in Mississippi and Louisiana, through which he acquired a reputation as a political writer, but not much money. Then his already poor health broke down and he was forced to give up his newspaper work and to turn to a field in which he had always excelled, historical writing. He cut himself off from all other activities, bought a small plantation, and retired to the life of a planter and historian which he thought would end all his previous frustrations.

The property he bought was called Laurel Wood, fronting on the Gulf of Mexico near the mouth of Pearl River on Millato Bayou. And he made a success of it. He made a good profit on sea island cotton, but in addition he raised large crops of garden vegetables. At the start of the Civil War, Claiborne was out of debt and had an annual income of six thousand dollars.

When war came, Claiborne declared for the Union, with which his sympathies always had been. The local folks didn't take kindly to his stand, and he was forced to send his family to Natchez while he stayed at Laurel Wood to face his angry neighbors who later, however, were glad to have him for a friend, as he supplied much of the country's needs with vegetables from his plantation during the darkest days of the conflict.

There is evidence that during the occupation of New Orleans by the Federals Claiborne was secretly in touch with Gen. Butler, supplying him with information about Confederate plans and movements in Mississippi. Protecting his fidelity to the South at every opportunity, at the same time he wrote voluminously to Butler that the local people "are essentially animal" and that they had supported the Confederacy "with the hope of plunder," and that vigorous measures would bring the whole seaboard to its allegiance in three months. As Union victories became more frequent, Claiborne reported to Butler—many Confederate activities and imputed southern sympathizers living in New Orleans. At the same time he continued to produce cotton and to sell it in New Orleans as purchasing agent in the Confederacy.

After the war Claiborne took the oath of amnesty and actively supported General Grant for the Presidency. He became active in capturing politics and was closely allied with Adelbert Ames, the carpetbag Governor of Mississippi. After 1870 his visits to Laurel Wood became infrequent, the last being in 1876 when he was the principal speaker at a centennial celebration in Bay St. Louis; the remaining years of his life were devoted to writing his monumental history of Mississippi.

Of all the noted men of the State, Claiborne is perhaps the most enigmatical, a combination of intellectual genius and erratic judgement. A visit to his Laurel Wood plantation brings sobering thought of the frailties of human nature.

Your Public Schools

Throughout the school year, there are many ways in which the public schools can be improved. One way is through the efforts of the teachers and the students. Another way is through the efforts of the community. The Bay St. Louis Public Schools are doing a great job of educating the children of the community. The teachers are dedicated and the students are motivated. The community is supportive and the schools are well-maintained. The Bay St. Louis Public Schools are a source of pride for the community.

PICTURE YOUR TV SET TURNED OFF

Homemakers trying to figure out where to keep the TV set needn't have their backs against the wall. Here is some sound advice: If you're buying a free-standing cabinet, and this applies to stereo consoles as well as television — do not mix formal styles such as Sheraton, Hepplewhite and Louis XVI with informal pieces such as Provincial or early American. If your home is done in late, but a few inches fine French furniture, or good reproductions of that style, the set and the wall as a choice a clean-lined console that will not conflict with the furniture. On the other hand, designer at Teledyne Packard as an accent piece a French Provincial console can go very well in a predominantly contemporary room to add a bit of interesting contrast. Mediterranean or Spanish cabinets could go into early English, French or Colonial rooms, too. The key is to choose a simple version of Country or English and French. Avoid using consoles with dark finishes in small rooms because they look bulkier than lighter ones. Generally, your best bet is to choose a simple cabinet because you always can dress it with accessories, whereas an ornate unit could create an overly formal feeling with other furnishings. While easy-to-tote portable

Since then, the Bay St. High Band has been on an uphill climb. This year's Tiger Band consists of forty-three enthusiastic members. Their half-time performances have been praised by Tiger fans and visitors alike. At recent competition in Gulfport, the band competed against groups from Mississippi, Louisiana, and Alabama and walked away with "excellent" ratings. Under the driving hand of Jerry Evans, the Bay St. Louis Tiger Band should continue to grow.

Forestry Report

County Forester Mike Hendry of Hancock County announced that the Mississippi Forestry Commission equipment and personnel are available for contract fire lane construction work. No limitation is set on the number of miles of fire lanes that can be plowed for any one landowner. In cases where requests for this service exceed the capacity of personnel and equipment, the smaller jobs will receive priority. This will permit the service to continue to be available to the greatest number of landowners. A written contract between County Forester Hendry and the landowner must be signed before any work is performed. A joint agreement will be made in advance that the fire lane construction work will be $3.50 per hour. The landowner will be held responsible for furnishing boundary line information to Commission employees. The Commission equipment will continue to be available for fire lane construction as long as

Social Security Information

"The Social Security Administration wants to keep the public informed and up to date about all of the provisions of the Social Security Law," stated Mrs. Gwendolyn L. Dunlap, representative of the Gulfport Social Security office. One of the ways of informing the public is by providing social security speakers at civic clubs and organization meetings. Usually a telephone call to the social security office to request a speaker is all that is necessary. "What we are interested in at present is making the availability of this service more widely known," Mrs. Dunlap stated. Mrs. Dunlap adds that perhaps the most important function of the Social Security Administration is to protect the rights of persons under the social security and Medicare laws. Mrs. Dunlap invites all interested clubs and organizations to call the social security office at 864-2022 and take advantage of this free service.

Bumpy Flight

One moment Myrtle was gazing peacefully out the airplane window, admiring the view. The next moment the plane struck an air pocket, lurched downward, and tossed Myrtle right out of her seat.

In a third case, a man was assured by a stewardess that there was still time to go to the washroom, just as the plane was approaching a known patch of choppy air. Again, injury. And again, airline liability.

But it is also true that the passenger must do his share to minimize the risk.

One passenger obediently hooked up his seat belt when the warning sign went on. But he left so much slack in the belt that there was still plenty of room for him to bounce. And when the plane hit turbulence, he did bounce—hard.

Afterward, the man tried to collect damages for the injuries he had sustained. He blamed the stewardess for not double-checking his belt.

But the court threw out his claim. For having suffered an accident he could easily have avoided, said the court, he had no one to blame but himself.

Cheesy Corn Sticks

Corn meal carries the flavor of blue cheese and carries away to a new high point in gustatory.

Looking for something easy to prepare, both versatile and good enough to go with pork, beef, fish or poultry? Here's your answer—Cheesy Corn Sticks.

We defy you to stop at just one bite of these golden "mini quick breads" fresh from the oven. You'll love the rich blue cheese and cornmeal flavor. You'll love the soft, moist texture. You'll love the cornmeal flavor. You'll love the soft, moist texture.

Because Cheesy Corn Sticks are made with enriched self-rising corn meal and flour, you're saved extra measuring and mixing steps. To make your baking easier, leavening and salt are premeasured in all self-rising flours. And the label "enriched" assures you of nutrients for daily good health—the vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, plus the minerals, iron and calcium.

CHEESY CORN STICKS

14 corn sticks

MR. AND MRS. CLINTON LADNER

Miss Anne Bennett Weds Clinton Ladner

Miss Anne Bennett, daughter of Mrs. Albert Bennett of Fenton, Miss., and the late Mr. Bennett, became the bride of Clinton Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Ladner of White Cypress Community, November 24 in White Cypress Catholic Church, Rev. Pierre Hissy, Annunciation Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Bert Harrell, accompanied by Mrs. Douglas Necaise, sang "We're Only Just Begun."

Floral baskets of red and white carnations and greenery decorated the church.

Given in marriage by her brother, Albert Bruce Bennett, the bride wore a white floor-length gown with a high collar and long sleeves and a full skirt with soft pleats on either side of the front panel fell into a short train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was attached to a small tiara studded with pearls and sequins and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

Miss Sandra Ashley of Hattiesburg was maid of honor and Tony Necaise of White Cypress served as best man.

Miss Ashley wore a floor-length red crepe dress fashioned on Empire lines and a headpiece of red roses trimmed with matching circular veil.

A reception was held at Charlie Pettrell's in White Cypress.

The bride's table, overlaid with white lace cloth and a white lace runner, was decorated with white roses and white candles.

Mrs. Stephen Malley and Mrs. Agnes Moran presided at the cake table and Miss Darlene Swilley kept the guest register.

For traveling the bride chose a white crepe dress trimmed in lace and an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Fenton Community.

The bride attended Pearl River Junior College and received her degree in Business Education from the University of Southern Mississippi.

The groom is a graduate of Hancock North Central School.

CHRISTMAS CANTATA
First Baptist Church choir, assisted by choir members of other churches, will present a Christmas Cantata, "Born A King," under the direction of Ronnie Hague, minister of Music and Youth at 7 p.m. Sunday, December 19 at First Baptist Church, 141 Main Street.

Mrs. Glenda Salter will be organist, Miss Gill Rayborn will be at the piano and Ed Thomson will serve as narrator.

The Payroll Savings Plan is for people who hate to think about saving.

If you're one of those people who needs to save but doesn't like to think about it, the Payroll Savings Plan is a perfect solution to your problem.

You only have to think about saving once and that's when you join.

After that, money is added to your savings every payday. Whether you remember or not.

While you're thinking about other things, your money will be adding up. Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds. E Bonds now pay 5 1/2% when held to a maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra 1 1/2% is payable as a bonus at maturity. This applies to all bonds issued since June 1, 1970... with a comparable improvement for all older bonds.

Start building a nest egg the easy way. Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan. Then forget it.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, the holder can get a replacement. They can be cashed at your bank, tax-free, by depositing them in a savings account. And always remember, Bonds are a smart way to save.

Take stock in America. Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

Six Teams Battle In Tiny Toy Bowl

Although the weather was cold and overcast the attendance was very good for the second annual Tiny Toy Bowl staged Sunday afternoon at S.S.C. Stadium. The Toy Bowl is sponsored by the O.L.G. Bear Backers for the benefit of the Hancock County Christmas Needy. There were three football games, each of which was a good battle. Santa Claus made an appearance between the first and second games throwing candy into the stands. The Bay High Band played for all activities and their music during the games added much to the festivities.

The winning teams and runnersup in each division were presented trophies. Father Johnson and Father Gallagher also presented trophies to the outstanding offensive and defensive players in each game.

Boy Scout Troop 364 of St. Rose De Lima presented the colors and played the "Star Spangled Banner" to begin the activities of the day. The half-time show for the second game was provided by the Honey Bears of O.L.G. The cheerleaders for the Little Farms Falcons did the honors during half-time of the third game.

In the first game, the Division St. John's Hawks defeated the Gulfport Commodores 25-14. The Hawks scored in the first quarter on a 25-yard run by Mitchell Roberts. Roberts was voted outstanding offensive player of the game. The Rebels didn't give up and had a good drive going as the final whistle blew. The outstanding defensive player of the game was Paul Price of St. Paul's.

The second game, the C Division, pitted the O.L.G. Bears against the Amnucation Wildcats of Kiln. The Bears won the game 25-6. Marty Tanguis of the Bears scored the first touchdown for the Bears in the first quarter on a quarterback sneak from the 1-yard line. In the second quarter Mike Rosato ran a trap play from the 7-yard line for the Bears second score. Marty Tanguis ran his second touchdown of the day in the third quarter on a roll-out pass run option from the 19-yard line, and he scored the extra point on a quarterback sneak. D. Sykes of the Wildcats scored with seconds to play on a 45-yard quarterback keeper. On the ensuing kickoff, which was the last play of the game, Bill Kergosien ran a kickoff reverse and scampered 67 yards for a Bear touchdown. The outstanding offensive award was won by Mike Rosato of the Bears and the defensive award went to G. Strif of the Wildcats. Cited for their fine defensive play, by Bear coach Ronald Tanguis were Greg Hammer, Paul Truett, Bobby Payard, Marty Tanguis and Tim Kergosien.

The third game of the day, the B Division, saw the Gulfport East Vikings defeat the Gulfport Commodores 25-14. The Vikings scored in the first quarter on a 25-yard run by Mitchell Roberts. Roberts was voted outstanding offensive player of the game. The Rebels didn't give up and had a good drive going as the final whistle blew. The outstanding defensive

The past weekend was a dilly when it came to being a bird one for most all sports except going to the races, as they go on regardless of the weather.

For fishing the land rains, high tides and high winds made that sport practically impossible, while for hunting the woods were soaked which was no good for rabbit or squirrel, etc.

The duck and coot season has been open for a week now. The weather was rainy and cold which is good for duck hunting if you can take it. Mississippi selected a straight duck season and a split goose season which opened Tuesday and runs through Jan. 15. With most all hunting seasons open, hunters should find plenty to hunt from now on.

The quail season opened this past Saturday. Ready to open it was among the many, Harry Roman, Louis Decell, Dick Mestayer and sons, Willard Peterson and sons, Wop Glover and others who raise and train their own dogs. Taking care of a bird dog is rather expensive when one realizes that they are only used a couple of months out of the year but must be fed the year round. The pleasure one gets from working behind a good bird dog is worth it, says most hunters.

There are plenty of woodcock in our woods and with the season on them open there should be some hunters killing this delicate eating bird. Woodcock are hunted with dogs or can be kicked up. Swampy land is best for them.

There was an exceptionally high tide Saturday according to Uncle Bud Soller who said that the water was over the road out by Plou's Place. Boat owners had to wade to their boats.

Al Carlson with his fishing partner, Mac Canaga made a nice catch of speckles the other day around the bay. They were nice size.

Fishing for speckles up Jordan River will probably be out for a while. The heavy rains of the past weekend washed them out in the Bay temporarily. It usually happens after too much rain.

Paul B. Lee and son, Wallace Lee of Morgan City visited Holden Barre during the past week. They did some fishing and caught speckles and croakers down Bayou Caddy way. Mr. Lee retired from the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Eagles Slip Past Tigers

The St. John Eagles of Gulfport, slipped by the Bay High Tigers in a basketball game played Saturday night in Gulfport by a score of 53-52.

The lead changed hands several times in the game and the final outcome of the game is still a matter of controversy. At time ran out, Willie Thomas of Bay High took a desperation shot and made the basket. The effort was to no avail as the referee said the buzzer had sounded before Thomas got his shot off.

High scorers in the game were S. McNally and Steele of St. John's with 17 points each. Gary Blaise and Eric Lymnal each had 13 points to lead the Bay High scorers.

Bay High with a 23 record, will see action Friday night in the tournament to be held at Hancock North Central.

John Histrup, Dr. Cliff Comeaux, Jr. and Luke Elliott expect to be down Thursday to make a duck hunt out in the marshes with August Rauxet on his boat. They will be out 3 days. Will probably do some fishing and get oysters while in outside waters. This has gotten to be an annual trip for these four hunters.

Some old gal said: When some men get a kiss they try to make a meal out of it.

An automobile hint: Baking soda loosens up corrosion on battery terminals.

Bob Dallstrom made a flying trip to the Bay Saturday. Will be back shortly, he thinks.

Read where an agreement has been reached giving the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission jurisdiction of fishing North of U. S. 90 and the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission jurisdiction South of the highway.

As a result of the change it will no longer be required in many instances to have a freshwater fishing license to fish for salt-water fish in Mississippi's bays.

Officials said the new agreement should help the coastal tourist industry since it will permit more fishing territory where license requirements do not apply.

Don't forget to get that duck stamp if you expect to kill waterfowl. Federal game wardens can make it mighty tough on you.

When trolling for speckle trout or bass remember to use a swivel, it keeps the line from twisting.

Wonder what has happened to Dr. Emile Bertucci. Long time no see. Fishing has been good lately, Doc.

Our fishing buddy, M. F. Cass expects to be down from Hattiesburg soon to catch up on his fishing. He owns a fishing camp on Bayou LaCade and enjoys fishing in this neck of the woods.

Jack Garriga has probably gone back to hunting since most seasons are open. Jack doesn't fish when hunting is on.

Doesn't rain with a heavy get to fishing again? Joe is looking better now, after an illness.

Most local streams are muddy from recent rains. Be patient, they will clear up again.

MR. AND MRS. DON LEON ANSELMO

Miss Deborah Garcia Weds Don Anselmo

St. Clare's Catholic Church, Waveland, was the setting for the wedding at 2:30 p.m. November 27 of Miss Deborah Joy Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis James Garcia of Clermont Harbor, and Don Leon Anselmo, son of Phillip Leon Anselmo of New Orleans and the late Mrs. Anselmo.

Rev. Canasius Hayes performed the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by tall baskets of white gladioli and carnations.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a off-white velvet gown fashioned with long Victorian style sleeves. Lace, embroidered in sleeves, neckline and hem, lengthened her three-tiered veil of illusion, in lace adorned with seed pearls, was attached to a spray of flowers and she carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Linda Fleming, New Orleans, was maid of honor and Mrs. Randy Ladner, Clermont Harbor, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Misses Gayle Longo, Waveland, and Karen Anselmo, sister of the groom and Mrs. Gerald Fayard, New Orleans. They wore velvet dresses in jewel shades and carried bouquets of full mums.

Johnny Brulett, of New Orleans, served his cousin as best man.

Groomsmen were A.L. Quillo, New Orleans, Randy Ladner, aunt of the bride, Edie Garcia, Waveland, and cousin of the groom, Fred DeHaan, Waveland and Claude Garcia, Clermont Harbor, cousin of the bride, served as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Costello Hall.

The bride's table covered with a white lace cloth, was centered with a three-tiered cake trimmed with pastel spun sugar flowers. The top tier held the traditional bride and groom ornament, branched candelabra holding white tapers, were on either side. Baskets of white gladioli and carnations decorated the reception hall.

Gift Shop Sponsored By Auxiliary

American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Mississippi, held their annual veterans gift shop November 29 and 30 and December 1 at the Jackson, Biloxi and Gulfport V. A. Hospitals.

Clement R. Bontemps, Post 139, sent 362 gifts to the Gulfport Hospital, which represented more than three gifts per member. The majority of gifts were either given by members and friends of the Unit or purchased with proceeds from the annual Harvest Ball held in October.

The veterans gift shop is set up at the hospitals as a store and patients are allowed to shop for gifts at no cost to them. Ladies of the Auxiliary wrap each gift, enclose a card from the patients and mail them.

Unit 139 has expressed thanks to everyone who helped in any way with the project.

Homemakers Hold Annual Yule Party

Clermont Harbor Extension Homemakers Club held its Christmas party Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. W. Duke with Mrs. J. C. Goodloe as co-hostess.

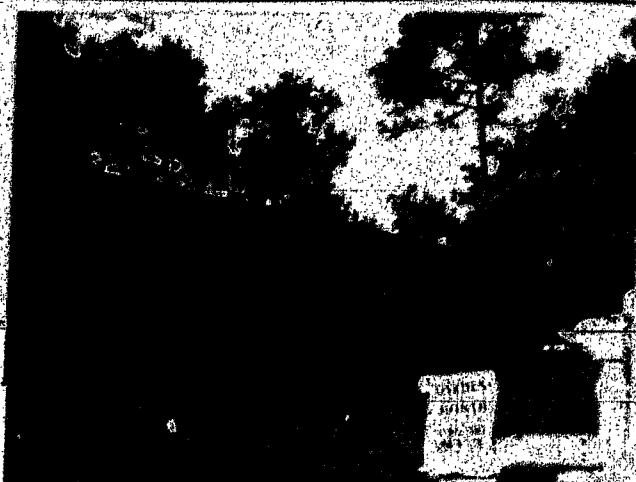

Gifts were exchanged and games played. Prizes were won by Mesdames W. M. James, Vivian Moffett and Bertha Augustin. The door prize went to Mrs. Goodloe.

Members attending were Mesdames James, Viva Smith, John Benigno, C. F. Schwartz Jr., W. R. Schaefer, Ruby Bennett, F. J. Corcoran, Goodloe, Duke, F. A. Peterson, Moffett, L. C. Rupp, Augustin, J. H. Everard, Maurice George and A. M. Thomas.

The name "witch hazel" probably comes from the fact that the forked twigs were once thought to have magic power in pointing out hidden springs of water.

WAVELAND GARDEN of the Month is the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Moreau on Waveland Ave. The award is given by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club.

AMERICA - another name for OPPORTUNITY

RALPH WALDO EMERSON
(1803-1882)

These six words just about capsule what Americans cherish most . . . the fact that our constitution, our democratic traditions and our national history lay great stress upon the uniqueness of the individual and encourage him to the full utilization of his potential.

This is the essence of the American experience and the substance of the American dream.

As our own best critics, we have made it possible for our nation to grow for nearly two centuries. In spite of our very real problems, we remain the world's showcase of democracy and its best hope for individual opportunity.

Isn't this a good thought for TODAY?
